

Assessment of Early Implementation of the US Forest Service’s Shared Stewardship Strategy

APRIL 21, 2021 WEBINAR
12-1PM PDT/ 1-2PM MDT

Researchers from Colorado State University, the University of Oregon, and the University of Georgia are conducting a five-year study to understand how efforts that began as part of the US Forest Service Shared Stewardship Strategy develop over time, based on interviews with federal and state agency leadership, land managers, and other partners and stakeholders. Join us for a discussion of findings from their 2019-2020 research on Shared Stewardship efforts in the West.

Presenters:
Courtney Schultz, Colorado State University
Chad Kooistra, Colorado State University
Heidi Huber-Stearns, University of Oregon
Jesse Abrams, University of Georgia
